

CALL FOR ESSAYS

We are pleased to invite master's and PhD students to participate in the Essay Writing Competition on the topic

“V4-Ukraine Relations Amid Rising Geopolitical Tensions”

organized within the International Visegrad Fund strategic project No. 22420086 bringing together academics and students from 11 partner universities:

Funded by

• Visegrad Fund

Students are invited to submit their thoughts on the potential enhancement of future cooperation between Ukraine and V4, or their respective Visegrad Group (V4) country (Czechia, Hungary, Poland, Slovakia) and Ukraine as Ukraine advances on the path to its European Union membership. We encourage participants to share their thoughts on geopolitical, political, security, migration or legal aspects of international relations between the V4 countries and Ukraine, as well as in the context of Ukrainian Eurointegration process, particularly in the fields of political and economic cooperation between V4 and Ukraine.

Two best essays will be selected from each institution. The winners will be invited to participate in the academic workshop organized within the project in Prague from 9 to 11 October 2025. This event will bring together experts and students, i.e. authors of the best essays from all 11 universities participating in the project.

Submission Guidelines:

- The essay should be written in English.
- The essay should be between 5,000 and 8,000 characters (with spaces).
- Please submit your paper by 15 September 2025 to peter.jancovic@euba.sk.
- Selected papers will be reviewed, and winners will be announced by 28 September 2025.

We encourage students passionate about international economic and political relations, EU politics, and regional cooperation to apply and contribute to this important discourse on the future of V4-Ukraine relations.

For more information, please contact peter.jancovic@euba.sk.